—Isaac Burton, an aged citizen of Philadelphia, who died on the 5th ult., left by his will $30,000 to the Women's Medical College of Philadelphia. Besides this the college, in conjunction with the Women's Hospital, are made the residuary legatees of the estate. It is estimated that in all, the college will receive $50,000, and the hospital perhaps $20,000.

—Hon. George T. Thorne, representative from the Fourteenth District, Philadelphia, in the last Legislature, died suddenly in that city on Monday.

Mr. Thorne was chairman of the Committee on Municipal Corporations, and an active and influential member of the Committee on Ways and Means, Federal Relations and Printing. He took a prominent part in all the important legislation of the past winter, and was the recognized leader of the Philadelphia delegation. He was a man of more than ordinary ability, but unfortunately had acquired such habits as had made him his own worst enemy. His sudden death is a source of regret to many warm friends.

The GALAXY.—The June number of this famous magazine has been received from the publishers. The most readable article is one on "Foreed Marches," by J. W. de Forest, whose sketches of army life in the Southwest have not been equaled in spirit, vigor and fidelity to fact. Captain Mayne Reid describes "Jericho" "Zita," in his usual epigrammatic style. The conclusion of "Steven Lawrence, Yeoman," is reached, and an appreciative criticism is furnished by Mr. Eugene Benson. A poem by Miss Phoebe Cary, a story by Henry James, Jr., the continuation of "Marion Harland's story of 'Beccalade,'" a wonderful story about Wyandott Cave by Mr. F. M. Gray, an article on "Railway Management" by Mr. Edward Howard, and other contributions make up an excellent number. The "Galaxy Magazine," "Driftwood," and "Literature and Art" departments continue to increase in the variety of their interest.

Known Election at Oil Creek.—The first election for Oil Creek Borough officers was held yesterday, and resulted as follows: Burgess, Wm. C. Hyde; Councilmen, B. F. Palmer, R. Rogers, Daniel Ridgway, Dr. Banger, Isaac Bennett and Times Ridgway; Constable, D. T. Ties; Justice of the Peace, Dr. Banger and J. V. Newton; Judge of Elections, Wm. C. Hyde; Inspectors of Elections, Times Ridgway and R. R. Murray; Anglers, R. Ridgway, E. O. Swift and Isaac Bennett; School Directors, Martin Grant, Isaac Bennett, Daniel Banger, Peter Ridgway, Isaac Newton and Samuel Palmer.

KARL'S STEAM PUMP.—Attention is called to the advertisement of this new candidate for public favor. The manufacturers claim for him superiority over all others. Mr. A. C. Scott, of 80 y Farm, is the agent for the oil region.

The Atticles of Impeachment.

As the Senate votes separately on each of the eleven articles of impeachment, and the Washington dispatches will announce both the opinions of the several Senators and the general result of the vote upon each by its number, we have here for reference the substance of the charges preferred in each against the President. The final judgment may not be given to-day, but meanwhile, during the inevitable discussions, rumors and speculations, with which society and the newspapers are filled, it will be convenient to have the points of the indictment itself at hand.

Article I. That the President issued an order to remove Secretary Stanton, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act.

Article II. That he by letter authorized Lorenzo Thomas to act as Secretary of War ad interim, when there was no vacancy in that office, with intent to violate the same act.

Article III. That he authorized Thomas to act as Secretary, with intent to violate the Constitution of the United States.

Article IV. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas and others, by intimidation and threats to hinder Mr. Stanton from holding his office as Secretary of War, thus violating the Constitution and the conspiracy act of July 31, 1867, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article V. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas and other persons unknown, to prevent the execution of the Tenure of Office act; and in pursuance of this conspiracy, attempted to prevent Mr. Stanton from holding his office of Secretary of War, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article VI. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article VII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article VIII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article IX. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article X. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XI. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XIII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XIV. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XV. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XVI. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XVII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XVIII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XIX. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XX. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXI. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXIII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXIV. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXV. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXVI. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXVII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXVIII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXIX. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article XXX. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure of Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Old Crimes are Dead.

The following parody on a well-known ballad is in circulation:

"Old Crimes are dead," that mean old man,
He always was a villain,
He always was a villain,
While he was Senator.

His heart was set to light of day,
His hands were never true;
He was a villain,
He was a villain.

He could not see the hand of God,
Because his eyes were closed;
He really had no wish to hear
His countrymen's voices.

Kind words he never had at all;
He knew each body's design;
His deeds, though many, still were small,
And were by no means "fine."

He made war on his fellow-kind
Whoever he had a change;
And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds.

"Old crimes are dead," the people say—
They heard his dying roar,
And saw him lying low,
His countrymen's voices.

His course would soon be o'er,
He knew that it was many days
Away in his place;
With down upon his brow
And wrinkles in his face.

They saw him rise with anger grim
And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut
His friends to shreds,
His countrymen's voices,
His countrymen's voices.

And with his sword he cut

Shamberg, Pleasantville and Tidoute.

Correspondence of Pittsburgh Courier.

TIDOUTE, May 11, 1868.

Last week your correspondent had occasion to visit the comparatively new, but already famous, oil territories of Shamberg and Pleasantville. A daily stage now runs from Tidoute to the latter place, distant about ten miles. The distance from Pleasantville to Shamberg is four miles—pleasant to walk than ride, on account of the roads. At Pleasantville great activity and bustle is observable in all directions. The hotels are crowded with oil operators and strangers from all parts, and buildings and oil rigs are going up as if by magic. We counted about sixteen new derricks within a space of a few miles of the heart of the village, and were informed by one well posted that there are at least fifty wells in all stages of progression in the Pleasantville region. Not much oil has been obtained as yet. The largest yield on record is about one hundred and fifty barrels per day; but great things are talked of for the future, if the best theory holds good—which don't sometimes.

On the usual route between Pleasantville and Shamberg we noticed but few signs and signs of these abandoned and concluded it was not within the "belt." But Mr. W. H. Hague, an experi-
